COFFEE

Chim Chim carefully sources beans from various regions of Thailand, each offering distinct aromatic and flavour profiles based on their varietals, terroir, and processing methods.

We provide four brewing methods, each designed to preserve and enhance the natural flavours of our single-origin coffees.

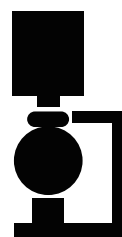

Join us on a Thai coffee journey in three simple steps:

Step 1: Select your preferred brewing method
(Syphon, V60 Coffee, Chemex Coffee or Delter Coffee).

Step 2: Pick your favorite single-origin coffee bean from our four current selections.

Step 3: Choose your favourite type of coffee.

SLOW BAR COFFEE (Step 1: Select Your Brewing Method)

SYPHON

Uses a vacuum process to brew a rich, aromatic cup. Heated water rises to mix with coffee grounds, then cools to create a vacuum that draws the brewed coffee back down through a filter, delivering a smooth, flavourful experience.

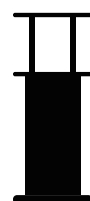

V60 COFFEE

Brewed with a cone-shaped dripper that allows for precise water flow and extraction time control. The spiral ridges and large single hole enhance flavour clarity, producing a clean, bright, and nuanced cup with a rich aroma.

CHEMEX COFFEE

Brewed using a thick paper filter that removes oils and impurities, resulting in a clean, bright cup. The pour-over method allows for precise control over water flow, highlighting the coffee's delicate flavours and producing a smooth, balanced brew.

DELTER COFFEE

Uses a unique injection brewing method that separates water and coffee grounds until you press, ensuring a consistent and controlled extraction. This technique produces a clean, balanced cup with reduced bitterness, highlighting the coffee's natural flavours.
